MY CASE

I was born in Sudan Kassala in Jun 9th of 1987, from my Father Fuzum Tewelde and my my mother Hidat yohanes of two middle class families. My father was member of the ELF (Eritrean Liberation Front) he come to Sudan in 1981 after ELF was defeated by the EPLF (Eritrean People's Liberation Front). My mother come to Sudan in 1978. I am of evangelical calvinist faith, my mother was the one who introduced me to this set of faith early in my childhood every since then strong christian moral values of family and education has and had been installed in me.

In 1990 my father was imprisoned by the Sudanese government for his political involvement with the rashaida people of Sudan. Latter in 1994 my father was deported from Sudan back to Eritrea which in turn led the migration of my family back to Eritrea. In Eritrea my father started working with NGO's like the Dutch church aid and SWI (strategic world Impact). My father's work was not in favor with the authorities in Eritrea, who by that time has started cracking down in Evangelical churches, in our case this led to us being surveillanced by the internal security affairs of Eritrea. By 2014 I have completed high school and I went back Sudan duly to my father's relation to the reshaidaas('Arab tribes who leave along the border of Eritrea and Sudan) and other border tribes who assisted me to leave the country.

In Sudan I resided in Kassala the town of my birth and I joined an evangelical church there, but after 3 months of my arrival I was arrested and placed in prison. Because of my Eritrean nationality which in turn because there was a minor conflict battle between Eritrea and Sudan led by Eritrean governments continues hostility in hosting and training Sudanese rebels. After spending almost 4 months in unknown prison I was let go. After that I decided to leave kassala and live in khartoum, there I joined high school and I scored high grades during my high school academic years in Khartoum. After sitting for Sudan high school leaving examination in 2009.

In khartoum I decided to Join university and study computer science. During my time in university I was also serving in an evangelical church, during summer breaks I would go out for missions in East Sudan which last for months, and After my graduation with high grades as dean list of my department in 2012, I dedicated my service to cyber evangelism, serving with rhema media and Information center. I and my colleagues published several news evangelical editorials and pamphlets which helped in the growth of our ministry. This events alarmed the Eritrean government which had their agents dispersed all over east Sudans Eritrean refugee camps. I have received several threats from their agents while I was in mission in east Sudan. And latter when I published the I and my colliquesbsite (http://rhemaint.org/) which included all our media cyber outlet evangelism, such as our monthly editorial kal meskel "ቃል መስቀል" meaning(word of the cross) and our 6 monthly magazine dmsti I and my colliquesngel "ድምጹ ∞วาล"(voice of the gospel) which strongly opposed communism and it's failed agenda, I was threatened in person by the government agents. To go even farther the government of Sudan was forced to ban our website for 5 months because of the Eritrean consulate, our office was raided 4 times. All this happened because our cyber media outlet was taking a lot of momentum among refugees and Eritreans who live in the borders of Sudan with Eritrea.

To quote some of the phrases and cartoons I and my colleagues published in our magazine and editorial which I have attached below

In this article I and my colleagues wrote about how to practice our faith in our fugitivity as refugees in Islamic country fleeing from Communist totalitarian government. What are our duties and respect to the government that is hosting us as refugees, and how to respect lows of the land that I and my colleagues abide in as refugees. I and my colleagues emphasized that Christians must educate themselves academically and be self dependent wherever they go. I and my colleagues also stated I and my colleagues ought to leave in peace with everybody and that I and my colleagues must not fear totalitarian governments.

In this article I and my colleagues have tried to briefly articulate the separation between church and state, I and my colleagues wrote that christians should now where and what is their place in a nation state and how they should balance their national and state feelings, I and my colleagues explained that Christians should be models of good society to their fellow non christian citizens. I and my colleagues also emphasized that christians must not participate in riots at all. We concluded that a nation is better kept safe when theocracy is limited to church.

My fears

In 2011 I was called to the Eritrean consulate in khartoum and I was told that strong measures will be taken against my media organization and group. Since 2004 I have not been to Eritrea because first of my father's case and because cyber evangelism case which has gone viral,. What terrifies me is that one of my colleagues in Rhema Information and media center was kidnaped and taken to Eritrea in 2013 we have no news of what happened to him, an attempt was made to kidnap me when I was in evangelising mission in Al Atbara east Sudan, since then I have decided not to go to east Sudan but still it is not safe in Khartoum, I have received several threats and my website is continually attacked cyberly. In 2015 I came to Germany for Academic reasons, I am doing masters in computer science in TU-Darmstadt germany, I came here because of my academic excellence.
